TWO OF OUR MOST VALUABLE INTRODUCTIONS

RIEGEL'S SUNBURST GOLD HEMEROCALLIS

Due to its past performance we believe that this variety is still one of the best and most outstanding yellow varieties in our Nursery. It is unusually hardy and is a strong and robust grower and a fast increaser. We have increased our stock of "Sunburst Gold" and now are able to offer it at much lower prices than before. For description and prices see the general listing of Hemerocallis.

HARDY HYDRANGEA — RIEGEL'S ALL-SUMMER BEAUTY

The Hardy Hydrangea has become very popular since it is such a dependable plant. We believe that our "All-Summer Beauty" is the only everblooming Hydrangea on the market. We have been growing this variety for quite a number of years, and it has proven to be very distinctive in its colors—blue or pink—depending on the Ph of the soil. This variety is unusually hardy and its blooming habit is wonderful as it blooms under practically all conditions. It has giant size blooms. Its continual blooming habit makes it unusually valuable in brightening the garden in August, September and October when most other plants are dormant.

HEMEROCALLIS OR DAYLILIES

Daylilies are becoming the most popular perennial. Amazing progress has been accomplished by breeders in the past few years. Daylilies are now obtainable in all shades from palest yellow to deep orange, pink, red, bronze, wine and blends of these colors. Daylilies will grow in any type of soil but respond well to fertilizer and water. They will grow in sun or shade but should have at least four hours of sun a day for best results. Daylilies should be planted shallow, one inch of soil over the spread out roots is sufficient for spring planting while plants should be set a little deeper in the fall.

Daylilies should be watered well when first planted. Plenty of water during the blooming period will make the flowers larger and more sun resistant. Well-rotted manure may be worked into the soil before planting or used as a mulch. For best results don't always be dividing plants. Let them make large clumps and they will get better and have more blooms each year. Mulching daylilies prevents evaporation during the summer and protects the plants during the winter freezes.

Daylilies may be used in flower bed borders, rock gardens; for low hedges; in front of shrubbery; around the patio; near pools or as accent plants in the garden.

TO LANDSCAPERS

The Daylily is becoming increasingly popular as a Landscaper's plant.

The following prices are for plants of two divisions and we always send at least two divisions and send more than two on many varieties.

ABBREVIATED TERMS

HARDY HIBISCUS

The new Giant Hybrid Hardy Hibiscus can turn your garden into a beauty spot. These magnificent plants are the work of the noted Hybridizer, William Henderson of California. These Hibiscus can be grown from coast to coast and are winter-hardy all over the United States. Being Mallows, they die down in the winter, but come up in early spring and are soon in bloom. Nothing gives greater show in the garden. The giant blooms are spectacular. They can be planted anytime. Give these plants ample room and grow them in full sunlight. A rich, moist, well drained soil suits them best. A mulch of well rotted manure or compost will increase size of bloom. We are listing only six named varieties for 1962. The other named varieties have been removed from list in order to increase stock.

BRILLIANT CERISE—An outstanding red that is a show with its huge 10-inch blooms. Good grower and prolific.

Each—$2.50

GEORGE RIEGEL—Semi-dwarf in growth habit. 8 to 10 inch blooms with wide over-lapping petals of a silvery light lavender pink. Dark red eye. Worlds of blooms of perfect shape over a long season. Petals heavily fluted. An outstanding variety.

LIRIOPE

(Sometimes listed as Ophiopogon or Mondo)

We are very proud of our fine stock of this excellent border plant. Some of the varieties we have listed are the result of many years of extensive selection to get the best and most hardy. We believe Liriope to be the most valuable border plant growing. It has so many good points that it fills the bill for an easily grown, dependable border subject. It will grow right up against a large tree in dense shade as well as in full sun. However, most varieties show up to the best advantage in partial shade. It is indifferent as to soils but likely prefers a soil on the acid side for maximum growth. Hardy to New York. In past years we have not been able to fill the demand. Cutting back the old growth once a year is recommended and February is a good time to do this, or before new growth starts in the spring. Do not set too deep. Crown should be slightly below ground level. Well rotted manure or compost worked into the soil before planting or used as a mulch is excellent.

GOLD BANDED—We are proud of this origination. Neat, 10 to 12 inch plants. Wide leaves with gold edging or band on each leaf. Lavender bloom spikes. Makes a very compact, round clump.

1-year field-grown clumps (6 to 8 bibs) ..... 10 for $10.00

GRANDIFLORA—The giant among Liriopes. The shiny, dark green leaves are ½ inch wide, and established plants will grow 2 to 3 feet high. The leaves arch over very gracefully. A very showy specimen plant.

1-year field-grown clumps (6 to 8 bibs) ..... 10 for $10.00

JAPONICA—Very low growing with narrow grass-like leaves. A fine low growing border and rock garden plant. Neat and attractive when established.

3 to 5 bib plants ..... 10 for $6.00

LILAC BEAUTY—Neat 12-inch plants. Dark green, wide leaf foliage. Has more bloom spikes and stand much higher above the foliage and last twice as long as any other variety. It is very showy when in bloom and is a valuable plant. We believe Lilac Beauty is the best all round Liriope in existence.
